

Next-Day Notification™

The Future of Flood is Here

In today's mortgage environment, lenders and servicers face increasing pressure to provide customers with more information, more flexibility and more transparency. Combined with unprecedented regulatory and investor scrutiny, higher borrower expectations are the new norm.

Introducing Next-Day Notification™. Through our investments in resources, data and technology, you can now receive guaranteed Life of Loan Determination updates the day after the revised FEMA flood map becomes effective.

Next-Day Notification helps create a fast, efficient and transparent experience for your customers. In addition, Next-Day Notification can help streamline your overall escrow and insurance process.

Why Next-Day Notification?

The GSEs permit servicers up to 120 days from the day of the revised flood map to ensure flood insurance is in place. Many servicers spend up to 60 of those days waiting for their life of loan notifications. Why wait for life of loan notifications that may take up to 60 days? This period could be better utilized for customer communication planning and managing insurance requirements. With Next-Day Notification you can start now.

The future of flood is here.

Next-Day Notification helps to:

- Improve servicing performance
- Reduce flood map impact uncertainty
- Improve borrower experience and increase transparency

Learn more about how Next-Day Notification can help you take advantage of early insights. Contact your CoreLogic representative, visit corelogic.com or call 844-496-4263 today.

© 2023 CoreLogic, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

CORELOGIC, the CoreLogic logo and NEXT-DAY NOTIFICATION are trademarks of CoreLogic, Inc. and/or its subsidiaries. All other trademarks are the property of their respective holders.